I've been looking forward to writing this one.

We had some great days of burning in PP 2; we more than doubled our pile count and finished the Keystone East project. On Tuesday 2/3, EZ Fire and a CCI crew lit off a record 636 piles, most of those in the Breckenridge Handtreatment 2013 project. With the 220 we burned on 1/28, we're up to 835 in that project area alone.

Our total now stands at 2,084, with over 300 of those either large hand- or machine-built piles. Our acre roll-up is not yet finished, but we believe we have at least 213 acres completed. I will update costs when I get those numbers next week.

We were able to use our nonstandard air quality permit on 2/3 and heard no complaints from the public. We got one neutral air quality comment from Robin Thoe bald (one of our regulars) and will respond. Other feedback remains positive.

Questions, holler.....---Ross
